3rd “Continuing Education in Macroeconometrics” Workshop

Thursday, November 12th, 2015

Theatre 2, Level 2, FBE Building, University of Melbourne

9.00 – 9.25 Coffee and Tea (outside Theatre 2, level 2)

9.25 – 9.30 Welcoming Remarks: Chris Edmond (University of Melbourne)

10.30 – 10.45 Break

10.45 – 11.45 Master Class II: Edward Nelson (University of Sydney) “Developments in Monetary Policy Strategy in the United States”

11.45 – 12.00 Break

12.00 – 13.00 Master Class III: Bruce Preston (University of Melbourne) “Long-term Drift in Expectations: Modeling Issues and Policy Implications”

13.00 – 14.15 Lunch
14.15 – 15.30  Afternoon Session I

Rashad Hasanov (Deakin & Dept of Victorian Treasury and Finance) “On the Effectiveness of Fiscal Stimulus during Recessions and Financial Crises

Qazi Haque (University of Adelaide) “Monetary Policy and Indeterminacy after the 2001 Slump”

Jingong Huang (University of Melbourne) “Network Theory of Innovation”

15.30 – 15.45  Break

15.45 – 16.35  Afternoon Session II

Daan Steenkamp (RBNZ) “How bubbly is the New Zealand Dollar?”

Fang Yao (RBNZ) “Persistence and Volatility of Real Exchange Rates: The Role of Supply Shocks Revisted”

16.35 – 16.50  Break

16.50 – 17.30  James Morley (UNSW): Panel Discussion: “Current challenges and conundrums for macreconometricians” with Don Harding (Victoria University), Kevin Lee (University of Nottingham) and Guay Lim (University of Melbourne)

19.00  Dinner at The Woodward, University House, Floor 10, Law Building, Pelham Street, Carlton

Please register by Friday 6th November (for catering purposes) on: https://sites.google.com/site/macroeconometricsworkshop/2015/information-for-participants