THE ROSS WILLIAMS CAREER ACHIEVEMENT IN TEACHING (FBE) AWARD

This award recognises and rewards the valuable career contribution of teachers in Business and Economics. The award recognises inspiring teachers who have motivated students to excel and have promoted excellent learning opportunities for our students in the faculty over a prolonged period of time. A $15,000 prize and trophy will be awarded to the recipient. The Dean reserves the right not to make an award.

Eligibility
Academic staff who have been teaching for at least ten consecutive years at the time of application are eligible to apply. At least seven of these years should be at The University of Melbourne. This award applies to academics teaching either undergraduate or graduate level subjects. Past recipients cannot reapply for this award.

Nominations from any of following can be submitted to the relevant Head of Department for support: (1) Self-nomination; (2) Peers; or (3) Faculty teaching staff

Criteria
The criteria for this award are modelled on the University’s awards for teaching excellence as well as the previous national Office for Learning and Teaching (OLT) awards for excellence in teaching.

Applications for this award will be assessed on the basis of evidence that supports the applicant’s claims against the criteria. At least two of the five criteria must be addressed.

1. Approaches to learning and teaching that influence, motivate and inspire students to learn
   Which may include: fostering student development by stimulating curiosity and independence in learning; contributing to the development of students’ critical thinking skills, analytical skills and scholarly values; encouraging student engagement through the enthusiasm shown for learning and teaching; inspiring and motivating students through high-level communication, presentation and interpersonal skills; effective approaches to guidance during the planning of research projects; structures established for ongoing interaction with students.

2. Development of curricula and resources that reflect a command of the field
   Which may include: developing and presenting coherent and imaginative resources for student learning; implementing research-led approaches to learning and teaching; demonstrating up-to-date knowledge of the field of study in the design of the curriculum and the creation of resources for learning; communicating clear objectives and expectations for student learning.

3. Approaches to assessment and feedback that foster independent learning
   Which may include: integrating assessment strategies with the specific aims and objectives for student learning; providing timely, worthwhile feedback to students on their learning; using a variety of assessment and feedback strategies; implementing both formative and summative assessment; adapting assessment methods to different contexts and diverse student needs.

4. Respect and support for the development of students as individuals
   Which may include: participating in the effective and empathetic guidance and advising of students; assisting students from equity and other demographic subgroups to participate and achieve success in their courses; influencing the overall academic, social and cultural experience of higher education.

5. Scholarly activities that have influenced and enhanced learning and teaching
   Which may include: showing advanced skills in evaluation and reflective practice; participating in and contributing to professional activities related to learning and teaching; coordination, management and leadership of courses and student learning; conducting and publishing research related to teaching; demonstrating leadership through activities that have broad influence on the profession.
