The University of Melbourne is hosting the 10th Australasian Actuarial Education and Research Symposium (AAERS) on Thursday 28th and Friday 29th November 2019.

The theme for this year's AAERS is "Actuarial Knowledge: From Theory to Practice". Through the Symposium, it is our vision to recognise the significance of both theoretical foundation and practical application in actuarial education and research and to foster interactions between developments of theory and practice.

Confirmed keynote speakers include Peter Ayton, City University of London; Mary Hardy, University of Waterloo; Yue Kuen Kwok, Hong Kong University of Science and Technology; and Greg Taylor, University of New South Wales.

You are invited to submit abstracts in all areas relating to actuarial education and research via the website of the Symposium. The deadline for abstract submission is 15th September 2019 and decisions will be communicated to authors by 30th September 2019. Jointly authored papers should be submitted by the person who will present the paper if it is accepted.

Please share this among your colleagues and anyone else who may be interested in speaking at the Symposium. For further information, please contact the organising committee at AAERS-2019@unimelb.edu.au.

We look forward to seeing you in Melbourne!
